Welcome at 7innov

Looking for new, innovative materials?

The demand for sustainable products has globally increased and is getting more and more attention in our field.

However, sustainability has become an unfortunate buzzword, being a quick fix, to a very complex system and production chain.

At CARMAT, we are carefully examining the best production methods in the market, that do not only increase the quality of our products, but also their endurance and ultimate lifecycle. This way, we make sure this is not only the smartest option, but also the more economic one in the long term.
